

GOLF GREAT AT OLD SWEET

Mixed Two Ball Matches Lead to Permanent Matrimonial Matches.

AFTER THE BALL IS OVER

Little Supper Parties Form a Charming Feature of Happy Day—Base Ball.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

SWEDEN SPRINGS, W. VA., August 20.—The golf links of the Old Sweet are held by good judges to be the sportiest and most varied to be found in the South. They are of easy access, lying convenient to the hotel, and are always alive with interested parties "chasing the wee bit ball with a club." Of late there has been an unusual number of players pursuing their favorite sport on these lovely links. Ladies and gentlemen, mixed foursomes phillandering, mixed two-ball matches, leading possibly to permanent matrimonial matches; strenuous four-ball games, with added scores for playing best balls, noives in great shape but poor form, finding out by bitter experience the difference between looking on and criticizing the game of others and playing one of their own. Truly, it is a trying experience and hard on self-control to strike point blank at the innocent sphere, and find it resting quietly on the undisturbed tee. And this is one of the surest phases of amateur golfing.

There have been several notable four-ball parties struggling on the links of late. The most famous composed of Messrs. C. N. D. L. S. N. and S. J. M. C. drives were the wonder of admiring galleries. Mr. D's second whole was eye-opening phenomena to the gazing public, and Mr. S's pitches were only outdone by Mr. S's approaches. Many balls changed hands in the vicissitudes of victory and defeat, but marked the labor of this foursome of gallant golfers in a two weeks' tournament. They kept up their contest for that length of time and it was a drawn battle when they wound up their rivalry.

The ladies are not behind in valor on the links. Mrs. Day and Miss D. are forewomen not unworthy of the steel of the reposed masculine golfers, and their scores are little used to handicaps in the tournaments that test the skill of the Old Sweet players.

LITTLE SUPPERS. One of the pleasantest of the many modes of entertaining at the Old Sweet have been the little supper parties after the ball in the evening. One given recently by Mrs. Henry B. Lockwood, of New York, took the lead in elaboration of menu and decorations. On entering her hospitable cottage, the eye was met by a perfect tower of flowers and ferns, the tables of good things, stretching the full length of the rooms, and what space there was left was filled with beautiful women exquisitely gowned, crowded, just enough to make things very bright and merry, and for the sharp eyes of the guests, which seemed as spontaneous as the sparkling amber wine that pledged many a friend to meet again. Mrs. Lockwood's charm and favor faire make her an ideal hostess, and her invitations carry acceptance with them.

Mrs. Martha Galloway, of Alabama, gave some very clever negro dialect songs and stories a few evenings since, which were highly entertaining to her audience. Mrs. Galloway has met with very flattering receptions both at home and abroad. While giving recitations in England, King Edward presented her with a tankard in recognition of her talent, and the London press notices of this gifted Southern woman were exceedingly flattering.

BASE BALL. Another of the games of base ball between the young athletes of the Old Sweet and the Chalybeate was played off this week, and a large and energetic audience gathered this time on the diamond at the Chalybeate. The interest ran high, as sporting blood goes to fever heat in this high altitude, which is very stimulating. But in spite of our determination that it be otherwise, the Chalybeate boys beat us fair and square, and now that the tension is over we have to admit that our golf experts were not in training for base ball, which is the all day habit of the Chalybeate, but we challenge individually and collectively on the links, and will show them a thing or two there.

Miss Elsie Parkinson, of Richmond, entertained her friends very pleasantly at a bowling party a few nights since, this form of entertainment being in high favor at the Old Sweet. Miss Violet Lockwood, of New York; Miss Jane Adger, of Shreveport, La., and Mr. Alan Brown, of Charleston, W. Va., winning the prizes. Mr. Brown is a brilliant ten-pin player, and seems quite equal to keeping all his competitors busy.

The Misses Hecan, of Chicago, who are among the favorite belles and beauties here, have made their little chafing dish suppers among the features of the summer. Their cottage piazza is so tastefully and cosily furnished with Turkish

MISS LUCY COBB, of Connecticut.

Miss Cobb is as dainty a Southern beauty as one would wish to see. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cobb, of Stamford, Conn. With her parents and her sister, Mrs. W. P. Gilmour, she has been spending the summer at the Rockbridge Alum Springs, but has lately left with her friends for their summer home in New York State.

divans, curtains, and rugs, that it is a most beguiling retreat, and, of course, the jeunesse dore have not taken long to find it out, and this particular supper of Sunday night was one of the most enjoyed of the series.

A number of parties from the Old Sweet were made up to attend the notification of Senator Davis at the White Sulphur Springs, many remaining over for the grand ball in the evening, and account of which you have by your applicant correspondent. It was a glorious rally and time will only prove the issue.

VALUABLE ADDITION. One of the greatest additions to the society of the Old Sweet has been the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett B. Wall, of Richmond, who are among the greatest favorites in Richmond's young married set. Mrs. Wall's exquisite refinement of beauty reminding one of a perfect miniature, and her taste and daintiness in her lovely toilettes makes her a source of constant joy. It goes without saying that Richmond women wherever they are thrown are always the magnets that draw, and this season there are several who, though mourning prevents them from taking part in the gay life and room festivities, are always to be found in some quiet nook, the centre of admiring friends, who find no hardship to give up the gaudies for such good company. Among these are: Mrs. Lela Page, Mrs. Langstaff Johnston, Mrs. W. V. W. Galloway, of Alabama, gave some very clever negro dialect songs and stories a few evenings since, which were highly entertaining to her audience.

Mrs. Galloway has met with very flattering receptions both at home and abroad. While giving recitations in England, King Edward presented her with a tankard in recognition of her talent, and the London press notices of this gifted Southern woman were exceedingly flattering.

CAPE HENRY.

Mr. Martin Entertains Many Friends With a Banquet.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CAPE HENRY, VA., Aug. 20.—Mrs. John R. Livesey returned to her college last Tuesday after a short trip to Richmond. Mrs. Livesey was hurriedly called home by the serious illness and death of her infant granddaughter, the daughter of Mrs. Wm. Redd, of Richmond. Mrs. Livesey has contributed a great share to the social life of the place, and her genial hospitality has been unanimously appreciated. Mrs. Livesey now has as her guest, Mrs. Garber, of Richmond.

Mrs. Ware, of Richmond, who has been the guest of Mrs. Livesey for the past few weeks has returned to her home.

Mr. Alvah H. Martin recently entertained quite a number of friends at a banquet at the Casino. The invited guests were Mr. Martin's friends and business associates, and the occasion proved to be a most enjoyable one. These dinners have been given annually by Mr. Martin for the past several years.

Captain Reed, of the Virginia Pilot Association, entertained Mr. Krouse and several friends from Richmond last Tuesday. Several trips to points of interest were made during the day, the captain being the host at dinner in the evening.

MRS. W. P. GILMOUR.

The above is an excellent picture of Mrs. W. P. Gilmour, formerly Miss Cobb, of Danville, Va. Mrs. Gilmour is a most charming woman, with a host of friends, and was much admired at the Rockbridge Alum this summer. Her charms of person and of manner are equalled only by her extreme sweetness of temperament, and her innate goodness of heart. Mrs. Gilmour resided last winter in Richmond, but now makes her home in Connecticut.

May Handy is at Hot Springs, where she will spend some weeks.

Mr. Heth Lawton and wife, after a stay of several weeks at Hot Springs, have gone to Zenoque, L. I., for the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. A. C. Harman and children, who have been spending the summer with Mrs. Harman's sister, Mrs. Tate Sterrett, at Hot Springs and Fassefern Farm, have returned to the city.

Mrs. J. Taylor Ellison is at Hot Springs taking the treatment.

Mr. George Cole Scott arrived at Hot Springs a few days ago, driving from Staunton his four-in-hand that took the blue ribbon at the horse fair there.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Danner left for Atlantic City a few days ago, after a protracted stay at Hot Springs. Mr. Danner seems much improved in health.

Mrs. T. M. Binford is spending some time at the Homestead, Hot Springs.

The Misses Wheeler, daughters of General Joe Wheeler, are stopping at Hot Springs.

Misses Mary Jean and Primrose Cameron, of Graham, visited their cousin, Mrs. Tate Sterrett, at Hot Springs during the past month.

The rounds and fruit and claret punch refreshed the players. Mrs. Stone presided at the punch bowl.

Thursday morning a party of young people left for Roanoke to the eight-thirty train for Roanoke. A trolley met them at the train, and from the depot they were driven around the city, making merry with horns and whistles and waving of flags. The parade was seen from this vantage point. After that a luncheon was enjoyed at the Roanoke Hotel, and then the afternoon performance witnessed, and the return to Blue Ridge made in the trolley, by the light of the moon.

The merry company reads as follows: Misses Kate Pretlow, Elizabeth Carney, Rosa Moss, Bess Green, Ella Menzies, Anna Belle Patterson, Fannie Lewis, and Messrs. Pretlow, Prince, Bailey, Crawford, and Dr. Moomaw.

Among the later arrivals are Dr. Rucker and his attractive daughter, Miss Rucker, from Manchester, Va., who have added much to the general pleasure. The young lady is an accomplished pianist, and with her father, of Texas, and the Misses McGrath, have held delighted audiences at their informal musicales. In fact, the

IN A WHIRL AT BLUE RIDGE

A German Every Evening During Each Week Day.

IN THE MORNING, TOO

Great Progressive Euchre Party, With Elegant Silver Prizes. Tally-Ho Party to Circus.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

BLUE RIDGE SPRINGS, August 20.—The summer colony of this merry old mountain resort have had a heap of fun, pressed down and running over measure of joys the last seven days, and still the pleasures come, "not singly, but in battalions." Rest and sleep are almost unknown quantities to the beaux and belles who are making the most of time "on this chequer-board of nights and days."

With a german every evening during the week, the ball-room has worn a festive air and proved a delight to age as well as youth. Wednesday evening brought one of the prettiest germans of the season, and the twenty-one couples were all Blue Ridge's youth and beauty.

The leaders' laurels were divided between Dr. Moomaw, of Roanoke, and Mr. Jack Pretlow, of Franklin, Va. Friday evening registered the largest german of the season, with forty-six couples.

Dr. S. P. Figgat and Dr. Moomaw, of Roanoke, managed the forces and gave the "hookers on in Vienna," as well as the dancers, a german worth remembering.

The Roanoke German Club added a generous quota of beauty and chivalry, and when the dance was done they steamed away in their special with a promise to return in the near future.

MORNING GERMAN. To Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, of Galveston, Tex., the young people were indebted for the first morning german of the season, which was given in honor of Miss Lucy Lowe and Miss Rosa Moss, of Galveston, and Miss Bess Green, of Dallas, Tex.

The rollicking good time enjoyed by the young people was due in a large measure to Mr. Jack Pretlow, of Franklin, Va., who led one of the prettiest germans seen this season, and one of the most delightfully informal. At the close of the german refreshments were served, and Mrs. W. L. Moody, of Galveston, assisted Mrs. Stone in dispensing a delicious punch. The chaperones were Mrs. Todd, Mrs. Phil Brown, Mrs. Manning, Mrs. Wilkins, and Mrs. Moody.

Light hours have been filled with music, tennis, croquet, and golf. Two melon feasts added to the round of pleasures—on Tuesday evening, at which Dr. Franklin W. Hains, of Petersburg, was the elegant and thoughtful host, and the other Friday morning, presided over by the fun-loving "German Brigade."

PROGRESSIVE EUCHRE. Wednesday morning Mrs. W. L. Moody, of Galveston, entertained a party of thirty-six at progressive euchre in the ball-room. Elegant prizes in silver were won by Mrs. Scott, of Fort Worth, Texas; Mrs. Wilcox, of Petersburg, Va.; and Miss Lilla Marsales, of New York City. After the battle royal refreshments went
